accent on rhythm

Many artists tread a fine line between realism & abstraction. A work has its own inner laws & rhythms, which constitute a separate actuality beyond that of the subject. The subject may merely be a convenient device to initiate the painting; providing a set of ideas, emotions or a symbolisation of meaning, which gives the inner impulse to drive an artist to create a representation transcending mere overt content.

In the decade since Brick Kiln Shiraz was launched, the fruit driven, palate-filling classic McLaren Vale shiraz has established a loyal following in Australia & overseas. In an exciting development Brick Kiln & Red Poles on McMurtrie Road in McLaren Vale have collaborated to open "Brick Kiln at Red Poles" cellar door. Now, among the vines & in a bushland setting, visitors to McLaren Vale can sample our award-winning shiraz as well as a new range of Brick Kiln wines, including a sparkling shiraz & fruity rosè made from our exemplary grapes. Visitors can purchase wines from the cellar door & enjoy them either later or over a delicious lunch at Red Poles. The wines can also be purchased online www.brickiln.com.au
